C Hristians, to the Paschal Victim Offer your thankful

Reconciles sinners to the Father. Death and life have contended in that combat stupendous: The Prince of life, who died, reigns immortal. Speak, Mary, declaring What you saw wayfaring. "The tomb of Christ, who is living, The glory of Jesus' resurrection;

Bright angels attesting, The shroud and napkin resting. Yes,

Christ my hope is a- ri-sen; To Gal-i-lee he goes before you."

Christ indeed from death is risen, our new life obtaining.

Have mercy, victor King, e-ver reigning A- men. Al-le-lu- ia

HOMILY

THE REV. BRYAN W. JERABEK, JCL

THE RENEWAL OF BAPTISMAL PROMISES

Dear brethren, through the Paschal Mystery we have been buried with Christ in Baptism, so that we may walk with him in newness of life. And so, now that our Lenten observance is concluded, let us renew the promises of Holy Baptism, by which we once renounced Satan and his works and promised to serve God in the holy Catholic Church. And so I ask you:

W. Do you renounce sin, so as to live in the freedom of the children of God?

R. I do.

W. Do you renounce the lure of evil, so that sin may have no mastery over you?

R. I do.

W. Do you renounce Satan, the author and prince of sin?

R. I do.

W. Do you believe in God, the Father almighty, Creator of heaven and earth?

R. I do.

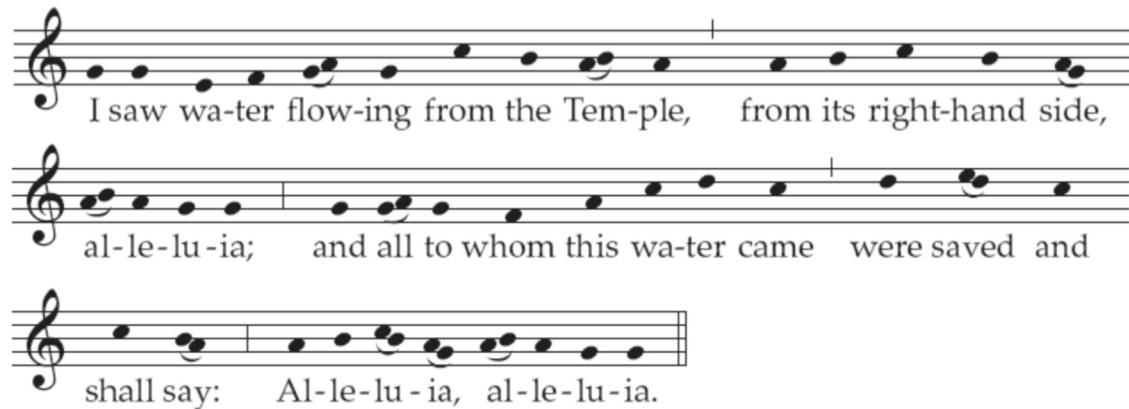

W. Do you believe in Jesus Christ, his only Son, our Lord, who was born of the Virgin Mary, suffered death and was buried, rose again from the dead and is seated at the right hand of the Father?

R. I do.

W. Do you believe in the Holy Spirit, the holy Catholic Church, the communion of saints, the forgiveness of sins, the resurrection of the body, and life everlasting?

R. I do.

ANTIPHON DURING THE SPRINKLING RITE (8:30AM)

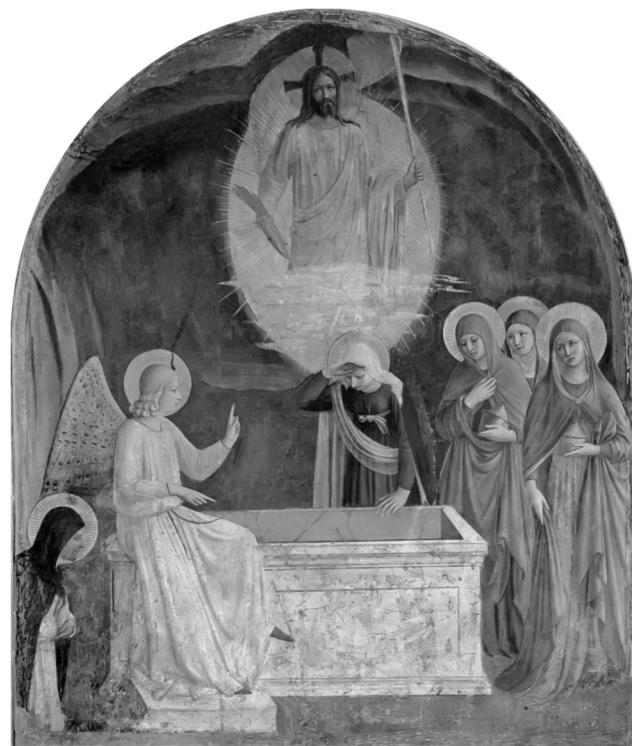

I saw wa-ter flow-ing from the Tem-ple, from its right-hand side, al-le-lu-ia; and all to whom this wa-ter came were saved and shall say: Al-le-lu - ia, al-le-lu-ia.

YE CHOIRS OF NEW JERUSALEM

C.V. STANFORD

Ye choirs of new Jerusalem, Your sweetest notes employ, The Paschal victory to hymn In strains of holy joy. For Judah's Lion bursts His chains, Crushing the serpent's head; And cries aloud through death's domains To wake the imprisoned dead. Devouring depths of hell Their prey at His command restore; His ransomed hosts pursue their way Where Jesus goes before. Triumphant in His glory now To Him all power is given; To Him in one communion bow All saints in earth and heaven. While we, His soldiers, praise our King, His mercy we implore, Within His palace bright to bring And keep us evermore. All glory to the Father be, All glory to the Son, All glory, Holy Ghost, to Thee, While endless ages run. Alleluia! Amen.

ABOUT TODAY'S LITURGY

Today's Mass celebrates the reality of Easter morning: the tomb lays empty—Christ is risen! The entrance antiphon of today's Mass reminds us of this truth. Then, we hear the first Alleluia we have heard in over forty days. In Masses such as today's, celebrated in the diocese's cathedral church, in a diverse city, and on a day when many visitors are present, the Church has taught in the 20th and 21st Century that Gregorian chant is the one repertoire we can all claim as Catholics (cf. Sacrosanctum Concilium, #116). In the words of Pope Paul VI, chant helps "...make it easier for Christians to achieve unity and spiritual harmony with their brothers and with the living tradition of the past." (Voluntati Obsequens) One of the more recent developments in liturgical music is the reawakening of the desire for chant-like settings in the vernacular; in this way, the text is more immediately comprehended by those present. The sequence Victimae paschali laudes is also represented in the vernacular. While there are now only a handful of sequences in the Mass (and only two, on Easter and Pentecost, are obligatory), these are very important to our liturgical spirituality. Besides being a signal that "today is important", they also provide insight (in poetic fashion) on the themes and liturgical texts of that day. The musical shape of the sequence is very interesting, as well, since the climax of the musical setting (in this case indicated by the highest pitches of the chant) reflects that of the text. We also hear two of the most-loved vernacular Easter hymns, "Good Christians, all" (derived from a German hymn by Vulpius) and "Jesus Christ is Risen Today", one of Charles Wesley's most famous hymn-paraphrases. The former provides the basis of the Easter voluntary after Mass, while latter shows Wesley's incomparable ability to beautifully paraphrase scriptural texts into metrical hymns. The two choral pieces presented by Cathedral Choir as English in origin, but the similarities end there. William Byrd's virtuosic six-voice motet Haec Dies is based on the text of the Easter gradual (the chant between readings of the Mass). Written relatively early in his career, it is a display of both compositional talent and faith in the Resurrection. The brisk duple meter of the first section throws the first text "Haec dies.../""This day was made by the Lord..." back and forth between parts. This then leads to the second section, where triple meter (a dance rhythm, allegorically used to represent rejoicing) is deployed on the text "Exsultemus..../""Let us rejoice and be glad", culminating in one of the most rhythmically complicated cadences in all Renaissance music. The final section setting the text "Alleluia" is serene and heavenly, with voices entering and exiting in peace, with a final, brilliantly bright chord to end the piece. "Ye Choirs of New Jerusalem" is Charles Villers Stanford's most famous Easter anthem. A translation of a Latin hymn, Stanford, a master of what might be called "technical composition" uses various textures to contrast ideas in the text, reserving all voices for the most important texts. In this room and on this organ, the piece is a bit of a battle: the organ (being higher in the room) has an acoustic advantage over the choral singers, and so good diction and articulation are crucial! The piece ends in a rousing "Alleluia, Amen" finale. Christus Surrexit!
