HAVE YOU ENJOYED THE MUSIC AT THE CATHEDRAL LATELY?

Perhaps God is calling you (or someone in your family...even a friend!) to serve him through music yourself! The post-Christmas period is an ideal time to join one of our choral ensembles. Whether you feel the Cathedral Choir, Children's Schola Cantorum, Mens' Schola, Ladies' Schola, or Cantor Group is right for you, there is likely a place for you in the cathedral music apostolate. Full descriptions of all groups are available on the cathedral website at www.stpaulsbhm.org/music. Please contact the Director of Music, Bruce Ludwick, Jr., for more information at Ludwick@stpaulsbhm.org or 205.251.1279x107. There are also plenty of service opportunities that do not involve singing or a regular time commitment. As always, your financial generosity toward the Music Fund is also appreciated and is a perfect way to honor a loved one or a friend or to simply give thanks to God!

ABOUT TODAY'S MUSIC

This Sunday, we celebrate the Second Sunday in Ordinary Time. Ordinary Time is a somewhat difficult term, as it can imply a sort of boredom or monotony. However, in its liturgical usage, it simply means that rather than celebrate a particular season (i.e., Christmas or Lent), we celebrate the “ordinary” miracles and events of the life of Christ—which are often, in fact, extraordinary! The gospel of Mass starts where that of the Baptism of the Lord (celebrated this past Monday) left off: John proclaims Jesus as the “Lamb of God, who takes away the sin of the world”, words that are familiar to all Catholics as the Agnus Dei we sing at every celebration of the Eucharist. This week’s introit at 11AM is a composition by the late Cal Shenk, former Organist/Choirmaster here at St. Paul. Many may not be aware that Cal was well-known outside Birmingham for his compositions. This choral setting of today’s Entrance Antiphon is a wonderful example of his work. The male voices introduce the psalm text, which is confirmed by all parts, then the praises of God are sung in dialogue between women and men, finally ending again with all parts. The verses use a technique called “faburden”, referring to a style of chant harmonization where the chant melody is found in a middle voice and is embellished above and below with newly composed material. The communion presents a chance to use another form of “proper”: rather than Gregorian chant, here we use a metrical hymn-tune to set the communion antiphon’s psalm. At 11:00AM, we hear the longest Gregorian offertory antiphon in the repertoire, Iubilare Deo. As you can see from the text reprinted a few pages back, this antiphon focuses on rejoicing. This idea (of joyful chants being longer) finds its roots in the “jubilus” or extended Alleluias in the Gregorian repertoire. While some tend to think (mistakenly) of chant as music of penitence, in fact, it is music of rejoicing. This beautiful antiphon shows rejoicing both through its formidable length and through its habitual return to the higher notes in the chant. The chant is showing us that joy lies heavenward for the believer! The closing hymn is the text “Praise in the holiest” excerpted from Blessed John Henry Cardinal Newman’s epic poem The Dream of Gerontius. While Newman was a skilled poet, his output is minimal. Nonetheless, this is an excellent hymn text. Often sung to the tune GERONTIUS, we sing the hymn text today to the tune NEWMAN, composed by R.R. Terry. Terry, long-time Organist and Master of the Choristers at Westminster Cathedral in London, was one of the pioneers of the early music revival of the 20th Century. One can still hear the fruits of his work today in Westminster Cathedral’s Choir of Men and Boys, the finest such choir in the Catholic world. The voluntary after the 8:30 & 11AM Mass is one of Bach’s most joyous chorale settings. Taken (as is often the case) from the cantata based on today’s entrance hymn, LOBE DEN HERREN, Bach assigns the violin melody to the right hand, the continuo part to the left hand, while the pedal plays the alto melody on a trumpet stop. It is a fantastic piece and wonderful example of Bach’s genius.
