THE LITURGY OF THE WORD

The readings for Saturday's Pentecost Vigil begin on page 98; the Pentecost Sunday readings are found on page 102.

FIRST READING

5:00PM:

GENESIS 11:1-9

8:30 & 11:00AM:

ACTS 2:1-11

RESPONSORIAL PSALM (5:00PM & 8:30AM)

PSALM 104

Refr.
7 c.

L Ord, send out your Spir- it, and re-new the face of the earth.

Text: © New American Bible; Music: Fr. Samuel F. Weber, OSB, © St. Meinrad Archabbey

ALLELUIA AFTER THE FIRST READING (GRADUAL) (11:00AM) Alleluia: Emitte Spiritum tuum PSALM 104:30

Alleluia. ✠. Emitte Spiritum tuum, et creabuntur: et renovabis faciem terrae.

Alleluia. ✠. When You send forth Your Spirit, they are created, and You renew the face of the earth.

*A note about the Gradual: The Gradual is a meditation upon the readings of the day. It is also the Church's "first option" for the chant between readings. A particularly positive trait of the Gradual during the Easter season is that it is always simply an alleluia refrain, reminding us that we remain in the season of profound joy and rejoicing!

SECOND READING

5:00PM:

ROMANS 8:22-27

8:30 & 11:00AM:

1 CORINTHIANS 12:3B-7, 12-13

SEQUENCE (8:30 & 11:00AM)

VENI SANCTE SPIRITUS

(Please join in singing the sequence below.)

I

C Ome, Ho-ly Spir-it, come! And from your ce-les- tial home Shed a ray of light di-vine!

2. Come, Fa-ther of the poor! Come, source of all our store!

Come, within our bo- soms shine.

3. You, of comfort-ers the best; You, the soul's most wel-come guest; Sweet re-freshment here be-low;

4. In our la-bor, rest most sweet; Grateful cool-ness in the heat;

Sol-ace in the midst of woe.

5. O most bles-sed Light di-vine, Shine with-in these hearts of yours, And our inmost be- ing fill!

6. Where you are not, we have naught, No-thing good in deed or thought, No-thing free from taint of ill.

7. Heal our wounds, our strength re-new; On our dry-ness pour your dew; Wash the stains of guilt a-way:

8. Bend the stub-born heart and will; Melt the fro-zen, warm the chill; Guide the steps that go a-stray.

9. On the faithful, who a-dore And con-fess you, ev-er-more

In your sev'n-fold gift de-scend;

10. Give them vir-tue's sure re-ward; Give them your sal-va-tion,

Lord; Give them joys that nev-er end. A- mēn. Al- le- lu- ia.

ALLELUIA

Cantor, then all:

Al - le - lu - ia, al - le - lu - ia, al - le - lu - ia.

Come, Holy Spirit, fill the hearts of the faithful and kindle in them the fire of your love.

HOLY COMMUNION

We invite all Catholics who are properly disposed (i.e., in the state of grace and having fasted for one hour before communion) to come forward in the usual way to receive Holy Communion.

All others, including our non-Catholic guests, may remain in their pews and join us in prayer. Alternatively, to participate in the communion procession and receive a blessing, come forward in the line and cross your arms over your chest as you approach the minister. Thank you.

COMMUNION ANTIPHON (11:00AM) Factus est repente

ACTS 2:2, 4

ABOUT TODAY'S MUSIC

Today we celebrate Pentecost Sunday, the end of the Easter season and the day that marks the gift of the Holy Spirit, the Consoler, to the Church and her members. Our entrance antiphon (sung in English at 5:00 & 8:30 and in the Gregorian original at 11) describes the action of the Holy Spirit as sanctifier and bestower of wisdom. The offertory antiphon (sung at 11) is a passage from the Psalms, read as a plea to the Holy Trinity that the Holy Spirit might finish his work on earth. It is sung to a polyphonic setting by William Byrd. Byrd, one of the greatest Renaissance composers, uses text painting in a characteristically reserved way to “build the temple” of Jerusalem (each voice singing the text is higher and higher, eventually ending with an added Alleluia), and re-uses musical ideas from his Epiphany motets pertaining to the “kings of Tarshish and the isles” in this Pentecost motet. We don’t know the significance of the musical motive, but the gesture is fascinating! At 11AM, we also hear Byrd’s Mass for Five Voices. His last Mass setting chronologically, Byrd’s mature genius is in full evidence in this piece. The relatively understated Kyrie sets the stage of the rest of the Mass, with its rich, yet perfectly-balanced vocal texture. The Gloria is more emphatic and brisk; Byrd utilizes the expressive capabilities of the five-voice texture to great effect, especially in moments such as the “Gratias agimus tibi/We give thanks to Thee”, setting it in dramatic homophony—a veritable aural shock. This is in stark contrast to the limpid, delicate three-voice texture on tender texts such as “Domine Deus, agnus Dei...qui tollis peccata mundi/Lord God, lamb of God...who takes away the sins of the world”. Byrd begins the Agnus Dei movement of the Mass with the same three-voice texture in a meditation on the wounded Lamb of God. Byrd then states the same text in more emphatic fashion with four voices, finally climaxing with the stunning five-voice declamation of the final “Agnus Dei...dona nobis pacem/Lamb of God...grant us peace”. In fact, this is the most miraculous of the statements: he actually repeats the first half of the text twice in a very dramatic statement of faith by this recusant Catholic composer. The communion antiphon is an English setting, with a polyphonic (or choral) setting (using the Graduale Romanum antiphon text) at 11AM by Jacob Handl. Handl, also known by the Latin equivalent of his last name (Gallus), was the most talented composer of the late Renaissance and early Baroque in the Hapsburg lands of Austria and Eastern Europe. While geographically his career was spent solely in this region, musically his output reflects both the local and more exotic (especially Venetian) influences. This motet, likely composed during his tenure as a choirmaster in Moravia, is designed for a small choir of limited resources. Handl’s music more often utilized large choral forces and the then-very-en-vogue Venetian polychoral style, but this simple motet makes use of just four voices. After the figurative descent of the Holy Spirit in the motet, the choir first (on loquentes) “speaks” through melismatic passages, then leads to a firm statement of “magnalia Dei”, or “the wonders of God”. After this, a syncopated statement of Alleluias takes over, joyfully ending the motet. The other music of the day is taken from more general Pentecost sources. Regarding the singing of the Credo at 11AM: while the Creed is currently sung but a few times a year here at St. Paul’s, it is important to note that the sung form is listed as the first option in both the General Instruction on the Roman Missal (GIRM) and one of the most important documents on sacred music of the last century, Musicam Sacram (#34). Therefore, our use of the sung Creed today is a profound bow to the desires of the Church. We hope you enjoy this glimpse into the “treasury of sacred music” which Vatican II praised as “the greatest sacred art”. (SC, #112, 114) Finally, at the conclusion of the 11AM Mass, as the closing hymn begins, we reenact the great and ancient Roman tradition of having a “shower of rose petals” to call to mind the descent of the Holy Spirit in the form of tongues of fire at the first Pentecost. This lovely tradition is an expression of the great “Catholic imagination” and we are delighted to be able to re-create it here at St. Paul’s this Pentecost!
