The Mass readings are found on page 116 in Sunday's Word.

"It is in the Church that Christ fulfills and reveals his own mystery as the purpose of God's plan: 'to unite all things in him.' St. Paul calls the nuptial union of Christ and the Church 'a great mystery.' Because she is united to Christ as to her bridegroom, she becomes a mystery in her turn. Contemplating this mystery in her, Paul exclaims: 'Christ in you, the hope of glory.'" (CCC 772)

ABOUT TODAY'S MUSIC

Among the Sundays in the middle of Ordinary Time, the Fifteenth Sunday is notable for its immediate focus on heavenly realities. From the very outset, we foster the theological virtue of hope through the singing of the introit (entrance antiphon): “As for me, in justice I shall behold your face; I shall be filled with the vision of your glory.” (cf. Ps 17:15) This idea of beholding the face of God is a central theme in many of the texts of this Mass. It is echoed in the responsorial psalm, “Lord, let us see your kindness...”, and also in the communion antiphon, where we sing the beautiful allegory from Psalm 84: “The sparrow finds a home, and the swallow a nest for her young: by your altars, O Lord of hosts, my King and my God. Blessed are they who dwell in your house, for ever singing your praise.” The collect also picks up on the theme of light: “O God, who show the light of your truth to those who go astray, so that they may return to the right path, give all who for the faith they profess are accounted Christians the grace to reject whatever is contrary to the name of Christ and to strive after all that does it honor. Through our Lord...” The two hymns (offertory and closing) continue this meditation on the virtue of hope and our hoped-for encounter with God in Heaven. This weekend, a vernacular (English) setting of the Mass ordinary is used, except for the Kyrie (which is in Greek). It is taken from Mass XII, one of the Mass ordinaries in the Kyriale appointed to Ordinary Time. One of the most lyric Kyrie settings, its melodic contour is moderate, but distinguished by the initial Kyrie’s leap of a fifth from F to C, gently descending afterward by step. In a somewhat unusual but beautiful turn, the final Kyrie melds the melody of the Kyrie and Christe verses into a beautifully long phrase, giving finality to this profound chant.
