THE LITURGY OF THE WORD

Today's Mass readings may be found on page 119 of Sunday's Word.

"From the beginning, this one Church has been marked by a great diversity which comes from both the variety of God's gifts and the diversity of those who receive them. Within the unity of the People of God, a multiplicity of peoples and cultures is gathered together. Among the Church's members, there are different gifts, offices, conditions, and ways of life. 'Holding a rightful place in the communion of the Church there are also particular Churches that retain their own traditions.' The great richness of such diversity is not opposed to the Church's unity. Yet sin and the burden of its consequences constantly threaten the gift of unity. And so the Apostle has to exhort Christians to 'maintain the unity of the Spirit in the bond of peace.'" (CCC 814)

ABOUT TODAY'S MUSIC

This weekend, we make use of one of the great fruits of the “New Evangelization”: the recovery of the “proper” texts for the processions of the Mass. While in some places it is customary to replace these antiphon texts with hymns and even praise songs, it is done to the impoverishment of the Liturgy and especially to our comprehension of it as a whole, as something that sanctifies us. So often, the entrance antiphon (for example) sets a wonderful tone to the day’s liturgy. In this week’s case, it reminds us that we find God in a totally unique way in the temple—this church. This is his tabernacle, his dwelling place here on Earth. When we consider that, it helps us to put aside any preconceptions of “what I want out of Mass” and focuses us on what God wants to teach us and our joyful obligation to worship him. In a similar way, the communion antiphon often recalls the readings of the Liturgy of the Word (especially the Gospel) to remind us of the unity between the Liturgy of the Word and the Liturgy of the Eucharist. The offertory hymn is a text attributed to St. Bernard of Clairvaux from the 12th Century, Jesu, dulcedo cordium, and then translated by Ray Palmer in the 19th Century. The organ voluntaries at this weekend’s Masses are taken from a mid-20th Century suite by the late New York organist, Seth Bingham. Dedicated to the organist E. Power Biggs, it is loosely based on Baroque forms, in this case the basse de trompette of French repertoire, where a quiet accompaniment pairs with a bombastic solo voice.

AS ALWAYS, SINGERS ARE NEEDED FOR CATHEDRAL CHOIR, CANTOR CORPS, AND SCHOLAE.
THERE IS A PARTICULAR NEED FOR MORE CANTORS IN THE ROTATION AT THE 8:30AM MASS!
